

Benediction for May 27th, 2018

Written by JJ DePaep

When tomorrow's light reaches into our lives,

Let it not catch us unaware.

Let it instead be greeted by an approving smile

And a heart ready for adventure.

Lord, we invite you into our depths—

Those rich and lovely, and so too those of shame and weakness.

Penetrate our darkness

So that we may trust when it is said:

"Even darkness is as light to you."

We are a people made whole,

And with expectant hearts (Sometimes frail, but ever faithful)

We draw near to your fountain.

Lord, call us into stillness

So that we may see tomorrow's light, and know that you are God.
